I am the resurrection and the life

Trusting in God is at the heart of Celebrations today: so often in relationships when things go wrong it is because trust is broken. That is probably why people can find it difficult to place their trust in someone, or in an institution or in a tradition. Perhaps the reason is that over the years we have developed a sense of fear and mistrust, at times we don't even trust ourselves! Jesus assures us today to trust in him, he will always be faithful no matter how messy our lives have become. In fact in an ever changing world he is the one constant; and when the world fails us he is always there to help us to pick up the pieces. And when we seem to be running out of days he promises us new life. As we move into old Passiontide, has your Lenten journey led you to trust the Lord more? There is still time, he is patient and willing, and no matter how much we stink of sin, wants to bring us out of darkness into new life, just as we see with Lazarus today.

On Thursday we hope to be able to appoint a new Headteacher for our School, nothing is certain as yet, but we need a person who will bring out the best both from pupils and staff alike. Could you please spare a prayer and if possible why not come to Mass on Thursday as we begin the process. Whoever is appointed has a very hard act to follow in Mr Gallagher.

It's the last of our early morning Masses this Friday, thank you to all who have come: why not join with us this Friday as we begin our journey through Holy Week? Many thanks for all you do. God Bless mjk

Pope Francis Tweet; We live in a society that leaves no room for God; day by day this numbs our hearts.

Where are you on your spiritual journey? Are you wandering aimlessly like a tourist? Have you stopped or lost your way? Or are you heading straight for your destination? Those questions were at the heart of Pope Francis' reflections during his homily at Mass in the Casa Santa Marta on Monday morning.... Despite our human condition as sinners who take the wrong turning, the Pope concluded, the Lord always gives us grace to turn back. Lent, he said, is a good time to consider whether we are journeying forward or whether we have come to a standstill. If we have chosen the wrong road, we should go to Confession and return to the right way. If we are a theological tourist wandering aimlessly through life, we must ask the Lord for grace to head off again on the journey towards the promises of our faith.
